

SUBHAKAMANA

BRAND COLOR PALETTE REPORT

Six refined color directions for a quiet, warm and understated everyday fashion identity.

Brand direction:

Subtle. Mature. Feminine. Everyday.

1. Creative Direction

The goal is not to make the brand feel loud, glamorous or overly traditional. Instead, Subhakamana should communicate quiet confidence, everyday beauty and refined comfort. The mother-focused audience can be felt through warmth, maturity and grace without using words like "mother," "luxury" or "premium" directly.

Top recommendation: Quiet Rose

Quiet Rose is the strongest overall fit for Subhakamana because it feels feminine and mature without becoming overly girly. It also complements the red, pink and soft neutral tones seen in the saree collection while remaining versatile enough for packaging, store signage, website UI, social media and printed materials.

Deep Rose #A44763	Primary brand color
Dusty Pink #D9A7B5	Soft accent
Warm Ivory #F7F1EC	Background
Soft Charcoal #2F2B2C	Text and contrast

Suggested brand hierarchy

Primary	#A44763	Deep Rose	Logo, buttons, key accents
Secondary	#D9A7B5	Dusty Pink	Soft highlights and secondary details
Background	#F7F1EC	Warm Ivory	Main backgrounds and packaging
Text	#2F2B2C	Soft Charcoal	Headlines, body text and high contrast

3. How to Use the Palette

- Logo: Use Deep Rose on Warm Ivory for the main identity. Use Soft Charcoal for a quieter monochrome version.
- Website: Keep most pages light and neutral. Reserve Deep Rose for calls to action, active states and small highlights.
- Packaging: Warm Ivory bags or boxes with a small Deep Rose logo will feel understated and refined.
- Social media: Let product photography stay dominant. Use the palette only for borders, typography and campaign details.
- Store signage: Avoid using all four colors at once. One primary, one neutral and one text color are enough.

Design principle:

The palette should support the clothing, not compete with it. Keep the brand system quiet so the sarees remain the visual hero.
